

INTRODUCTION:

Strategies for Eliminating Overwhelming Situations

Learning how to deal with difficult and overwhelming situations is a life skill that can provide you with a lifetime of success. As was discussed in ISRI's webinar "Strategies for Eliminating Overwhelming Situations", think about implementing these strategies when you're faced with a difficult challenge.

Basic Strategies:

1. Identify the true source of the situation.
 - a. Are you reacting or responding?
 - b. Are you doing someone else's job?
 - c. Is it a true emergency, or the result of a lack of planning and follow through?
2. Take control of your schedule.
 - a. Put your priorities first.
 - b. Give yourself dedicated time to focus.
 - c. Manage the interruptions.
3. Regularly review your plan – at any given time, you are either on track, ahead of schedule, or behind. Revise as necessary.
4. Delegate, delegate, delegate.
5. Create and use your operations manual.
Standard operating procedures provide certainty and clarity.

Don't miss the rest of the series – we will go deeper into each area and explain how implementing these strategies can make your company work safer, smarter, and more efficiently!

ISRI has teamed up with Time Triage and its CEO, Terry Monaghan, to bring you this exclusive series of Human Resources webinars. With over 30 years of business and entrepreneurial experience, Terry's unique technology has dramatically increased the productivity of Fortune 100 executives and entrepreneurs in a variety of industries.

Go to ISRI.org/webinars for a full list of the webinars we have scheduled. You can reach Terry at www.timetriage.com