

Ask Dave

- Q. Our driver got a citation for being overweight (the truck, not the driver) and it was written up as a 'cargo securement' violation. Should we contest this violation? It doesn't seem right.
- A. No. It may have been a proper violation category if the truck was overweight on axles only or total gross. Unless you have a special permit for the overweight condition, and adjust axles accordingly, you will get a violation in the cargo securement area.

Got a question for Dave? email: dave@isri.org